THE BRITISH COLUMBIA COUNCIL FOR THE FAMILY

The British Columbia Council for the Family, operating under the Society Act of British Columbia, has three objectives:

a) To be a forum where responsible representatives of communities throughout the Province may communicate to each other, and to government and voluntary agencies, their concerns about the needs of the family and receive help in preparing plans and projects to meet such need;

b) To stimulate and facilitate self-help projects to support and strengthen families;

c) In association with appropriate bodies, local, provincial, national or international, to further public knowledge and to promote public concern about the well-being of the family.

The British Columbia Council for the Family is a non-profit organization which was incorporated March 23, 1977. The Council is the only provincial agency wholly concerned with the well-being of families.

Almost every community in the Province is linked with the Council through individual, family and group members, affiliated agencies and contact persons, providing a wide information-sharing network. Membership alone, represents over 100 communities.

The Provincial Government, through the Ministry of Human Resources, supports the work of the Council by providing office space and salaries for a director and secretary, who are assisted by 8 part-time volunteers. Programs are funded by donations, grants and membership fees.

The work of the Council is based on the belief that families, although changing and adapting as they have through history, do have great strengths, and, if given help when needed, and enough power, can be a major force for the betterment of our society.

We believe that healthy families contribute to healthy communities and a healthy society.

The British Columbia Council for the Family welcomes your interest and support.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

This Annual Report is evidence that we have the resources in our society to do what we really want to do. Each one of us has some of those resources at our disposal to invest in family life, both in our own homes and in the community. My sincere thanks to all of the members of our Council for the past year which has been an encouraging one for me. The Executive, Committee Chairpersons and staff have been diligent, co-operative and long-sighted, and I deeply appreciate their support. I know that I have missed out on some things that should have been done and, sometimes, I have not been able to keep pace with the mass of mail which has landed on my desk. Nevertheless, it has been a rewarding experience being your president during the past year.

There are some key words which come to mind as I reflect on what is happening in the B.C. Council for the Family:

ENCOURAGEMENT: The on-going encouragement and support of thousands of persons who work in local agencies, both private and public, both paid and unpaid. They are persons who care about the quality of life which people experience in their family relationships.

HOPE: The new hope which comes to life when people marry and begin a new family; the struggles of men and women to keep it together and growing, even when the economic pinch is hurting.

EDUCATION: The steady development of the family perspective in education so that the vision of preventive work from infancy to old age is beginning to come clear. This will need more resources for the vision to begin to take tangible form.

LINKING: Government and private agencies, crisis and preventive agencies, social work and educational agencies, self-help and professional agencies; all these are discovering through our Council that there are gains in working together with a focus on valuing family relationships.

CHALLENGE: We are facing the challenge to find the resources we need, both money and human, which will enable our family thrust to go forward. Things are crying out to be done: T.V. Programs, new courses, leadership development, research and family life promotion.

These words seem to say that we are on the move together. There is important work ahead if the long-range goals of the Council are to be reached. Let each of us do what we are able to do where we are, knowing that we are part of a relentless movement to improve family life in our Province.

LYALL SIMPSON,
President

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S REPORT

Every year brings growth and change, and it is always with mixed emotions that I review the events of the past year in preparation for writing an annual report.

The Council lost a good friend when Helen Patenaude, a former President, died last November, and those of us who worked with her since the days of the B.C. Conference on the Family in 1975, sorely miss her. She helped build a solid foundation for the Council and provided a sense of direction and purpose which will be enduring.

The bright new Council logo introduced this year, signifies the Council's growth. Thanks to Gary Hogberg, graphic artist with the Ministry of Health, who designed the logo. The green "sprout" now clearly identifies all Council materials and programs.

The agreement with Queen's Printer Publications to handle the sale and distribution of the Council's Handbooks is another step forward. As the Council's operations expand, we are continually looking for ways to keep the office workload within manageable limits. This arrangement, although it will mean a small loss of income, significantly reduces the workload and allows the Council to continue to develop new publications.

A training manual for lay counsellors will be the next publication, funded by a Federal Government NEED grant. Dr. John Friesen of U.B.C., Past President and Paddy Ducklow of the Burnaby Christian Fellowship Counselling Centre, have volunteered their time to supervise this project. Watch the Newsletter for the publication date.

For some time the Council has been trying to raise sufficient funds to get into the television media field. As commerical television is still financially beyond our reach, we explored the possibilities of the provincial educational television network—Knowledge Network, where the focus is on "narrowcasting" to specific audiences rather than "broadcasting". Our first venture "Everybody's Children", funded by the Vancouver Foundation, brought a good response, thanks to the support of the Ministries of Health, Education, Human Resources and other provincial organizations. We hope this will be the first of an on-going series of programs of interest to families.

Another new venture, in which the B.C. Council for the Family is a participant, is the Provincial Consortium on Education Services for Families in B.C. This is continuation of the process intitiated in 1980 when the Council and the Continuing Education Division of the Ministry of Education co-sponsored the first "Working Together for Family Learning" Conference, followed by the Discussion Paper on Family Learning Activities in B.C., and the endorsement of the Paper's recommendations at the 1981 "Working Together for Family Learning" Conference. There is now wide-spread interest in family learning and the Council, along with other provincial organizations, is encouraging its members to take part in the regional workshops planned for the Fall of '83. The Council Newletter will carry on-going news of the Consortium. It is expected the Consortium will focus its attention on what educational services are now provided; what are needed, and how these needs can be met.

I would like to express my appreciation to the Board and Executive for their strong leadership and for their encouragement and support; to Diane Taylor, for so competently managing the office and training and supervising the volunteers; and to the volunteers, who contribute their time and skills to keep our office running smoothly.

I would especially like to thank the Honourable Grace McCarthy, Minister of Human Resources, Sam Travers, Executive Director of Family and Children's Services, and other Ministry head office staff, for their continuing interest and helpfulness. Their support is very much appreciated.

CONSTANCE HAWLEY

TREASURER'S REPORT

Our big news this year is the plan to establish a Helen Patenaude Endowment Fund. The Knights of Columbus, British Columbia and Yukon State Council, have donated the sum of $2,300.00 as a start towards this objective. In order to qualify as a Foundation, we require a minimum sum of $10,000.00 so, in the meantime, these funds have been deposited in a trust account where the principal is to remain intact.

Our objective is to build up this account until we have reached the required minimum for a Foundation account. When we reach this objective, the earning from the Foundation will ensure us a perpetual source of funds for special projects.

We therefore welcome donations and bequests to this Fund. Large or small. Please identify your donation as the Helen Patenaude Endowment Fund.

This will be a fitting memorial to the memory of Helen, who worked so hard and so effectively for the Council, and whom we all loved.

ROD MACLEOD

PRIVATE AGENCY COMMITTEE

At the last meeting of this committee only ten persons were present representing 7 private agencies. The main purpose of the meeting was to determine the future goals and direction of the committee. There was much discussion about the widespread areas of service, the different size and functions of agencies, but mainly concern was expressed that this committee would perhaps be duplicating services that were already carried out by others, e.g. Social Planning and Review Council of British Columbia (S.P.A.R.C.). As so few members were able to attend the meeting it was decided that the chairman would circulate a copy of the questions raised to members, asking for a response. Again replies were minimal, but those responding felt that the communication network established by this committee through the B.C. Council office should not be abandoned without further consideration.

It seemed to me that one of the biggest handicaps faced by this committee is distance. With very limited funding it is hard to meet regularly, and involvement does necessitate personal contact. As the structure of the Council is under review, I joined the Structure Committee and now feel that the Private Agency Committee may find some of its difficulties removed if regionalization takes place. For that reason I recommend we take no further action, at present, and hopefully those of us present at the B.C. Council Annual General Meeting can find time to meet together to discuss this issue further.

No other action has been taken by this committee during the reporting period.

MARGARET PETERS

MEDIA COMMITTEE

"I find television very educating. Every time somebody turns on the set I go into another room and read a book . . . " Groucho Marx. This year, I didn't have time to read many books because I was totally involved with the production of Everybody's Children, the teleseries sponsored by our Council and shown on Knowledge Network throughout the province. The series ran from October 21 to December 16, 1982 and was shown again on Channel 18 this Spring. Basically, the feedback on the series has been quite positive, despite a few "wrinkles" that appeared in our first solid venture into television. A detailed report on the background, production, evaluation, etc., has been submitted to Knowledge Network and to the Vancouver Foundation which graciously funded the series. A copy of my report is available for your perusal at the Victoria office.

In addition to my responsibilities as host of the Everybody's Children series, I have been busy along with Diane Taylor, Assistant Editor, in putting together the Spring and Summer Newsletters. The Summer Newsletter will be my last "offering" as I will be leaving for Italy in September for a teacher training course located in Bergamo. I am pleased to announce that for these last two issues there has been no dearth of material. Quite the contrary, our appreciation to all who sent in detailed information and photographs of interest to our readers.

Since our last Annual Meeting in Chilliwack, I have made a number of presentations on behalf of the Council. On December 6, 1982, I was a guest on the CKVU (Cable 13) Vancouver Show. On February 27, Carol Matusicky and myself were guests on Bernice Gerard's Encounter talk show on CJOR. During April, I gave a presentation entitled "Pressures on the Family" to students at Regent College in Vancouver. I also served as Panel Moderator for the first of a lecture series held during Family Month at the University Women's Club, at Hycroft, in Vancouver.

Currently I am working on a proposal for another teleseries entitled The Parent's Puzzle which hopefully will be presented on the Knowledge Network in the Spring of 1984 and will use a similar format to Everybody's Children. My thanks to all and especially for what you are doing at the local community level to make the work of the Council known using local media. Press on!

STU GARDNER

MEMBERSHIP AND BRANCHES COMMITTEE

In last year's report on Membership and Branches, I commented on the fact that our individual and family memberships represent the backbone of our organization, and expressed the hope that new mediums such as the Knowledge Network would create a new and exciting link with families throughout the province.

As I am sure most of us are now aware, the program "Everybody's Children" was presented last Fall and with the co-operation of Public Health Nurses, Ministry of Human Resources personnel and our own network; groups throughout the province watched and responded to this series. The effect on membership of this new opportunity for involvement in a family oriented program is already being felt. Another series is being planned for next Spring. If you support this program and want to see more like it, please spread the word and respond by enlisting new members, as it is through this support and response that we can justify continuation of the program.

There are two other important developments relating to membership which have evolved this year:

1) It is being recommended that the categories of membership be extended to include that of Supporter ($50.00), Donor ($100.00), and Corporate ($500.00).

2) The concept of regionalization is being recommended by the Board.

These proposals both recognize the need to provide and encourage a greater degree of participation by everyone concerned with strengthening families in all parts of the Province. The new categories will provide opportunities for financial support, over and above the normal membership fee, for individuals as well as corporate bodies; while the object of re-structuring to create fourteen regions in the Province is to encourage a much broader base of representation and involvement in all our activities.

I feel confident that there is a renewed awareness of the vital role a family unit plays in a healthy society. Let's all work together to help one another to recognize and develop our strengths. Membership in the B.C. Council for the Family helps us to help ourselves.

NORM WORSLEY

PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE

With the involvement of Queen's Printer and the arresting graphic design contributions of Gary Hogberg, the Council for the Family publications have assumed new impact this year. The first major publication to benefit from this new arrangement was the long-awaited GROWING TOGETHER. FAMILY RESOURCE CENTRES IN B.C. Produced jointly by the Council and the Ministry of Education, Continuing Education Division, the handbook and its accompanying slidetape presentation have been much in demand.

As well as re-designing and standardizing the FAMILY FOCUS pamphlets, two new topic areas have been added: HOUSING AND INCOME and FAMILY GAMES – FAMILY FUN. In addition, pamphlets have prepared on each of the Council handbooks, and the excellent series prepared by the Ontario Ministry of Community and Social Services has been reprinted with the collaboration of the B.C. Ministry of Health.

Plans are underway to publish the proceedings from the National Connections Conference of 1983: GROWING TOGETHER: FAMILY RESOURCE CENTRES, COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT, COMMUNITY EDUCATION -as are preliminary discussions regarding handbooks on Marriage Enrichment, Blended Families, Parents of Teens, Single Parents, and Family Life Education for Families.

DAVE NORDSTROM

PROGRAM COMMITTEE

The Program Committee consists, at present, of the Chairman who is in regular contact with the President and Executive Director. Much of the focus of the Program Committee this year has been on the co-sponsorship of programs with various groups in the community. Co-sponsorship has involved active participation by the Chairman in the planning, implementation, and evaluation of several family–focussed programs.

The first co-sponsored conference (December 4), with the National Council on Family Relations (B.C. Chapter), was entitled Assessing and Describing Families. The conference was limited to 40 participants and attracted a cross section of persons working in varying capacities with families.

The second conference was the National Symposium on Family Strengths–a conference held concurrently in Toronto, Calgary, and Vancouver. The sessions in Vancouver were attended by over 165 persons concerned with strengthening and supporting families. The topics covered in Vancouver included: The First Critical Years of Marriage; The Losses in Life; The Family as a Resource System; and Developing Capable Young People. A special feature of the Conference was a video-taped panel discussion shown in the three cities with an audio link-up which allowed persons from Vancouver and Calgary to dialogue with the panelists in Toronto and enabled Toronto participants to hear the discussion as well as ask questions of the panel.

The Council also co-sponsored, along with the University Women's Club of Vancouver, the Adlerian Psychology Association of B.C., and the Pastoral Institute of B.C., a series of five workshops held weekly from April 29 to May 25. The five topics covered were: Understanding Children's Behaviour; The Family and Stress; Nutrition and the Family; Encouragement, Co-operation, and Communication of Today's Youth; and The Fine Art of Grandparenting.

The Council was also closely involved with the Connections '83 conference–Growing Together: Family Resource Centres, Community Education and Community Development – through Board Member David Nordstrom.

As well, the Council co-sponsored a parenting workshop in Aldergrove.

Co-sponsorship has proven to be a valuable co-operative activity for both the Council and the sponsoring groups. Whether or not the Council wishes to continue in this direction and what criteria should be applied for involvement in co-sponsorship, are issues that need to be addressed.

The Program Chairman and the Media Committee Chairman were guests on Bernice Gerard's Open Line Radio Show and were interviewed on the work of the Council.

For the past few years the Council has received repeated requests for manuals to do with:

Parents of Teens
Blended Families
Single Parents
Marriage Enrichment

Application for funding has been forwarded to begin work on these manuals and when the next Annual Report is published, it is hoped that these publications will be added to the Council's list of manuals.

All Council members are strongly urged to make known their concerns regarding present and prospective Council programs.

CAROL MATUSICKY.

RESEARCH AND EVALUATION COMMITTEE

The Research Committee is a new standing committee that began this year with the appointment of Rob Lees as Convenor. Since this is the only committee without terms of reference, establishment of such was an important first step. At the April meeting of the Board of Directors, a presentation was made suggesting that the thrust of this committee be:

1) To promote the visibility of research projects related to Family Life already in progress at the various agencies, universities and colleges in B.C. The B.C. Council would be a natural clearing house to keep researchers within the province in touch with each other. Published lists and the Newsletter could be vehicles for such an information flow.

2) To encourage research related to the family. The B.C. Council has a unique relationship with government and the endorsement of the Council could be very helpful to some researchers in the same way that the Council's co-sponsorship of some workshops has added moral credibility to them.

3) To encourage and create family impact studies and reports. Actions by government and the private sectors, as well as any changes in our society have an impact on the experience and quality of family life. As a province-wide grass-roots movement, with members in close touch with the experiences of families, we should be able to make thoughtful, reflective public comment.

As well as working on terms of reference, we sought to receive a grant to do some evaluative work in reponse to some concerns of the Program Committee regarding the structure of the annual meeting. Unfortunately, our application was turned down. However, other prospects are opening for money to hire someone to review many of the concerns of Board members and the use of some of the materials that the Council has created and disseminated since its inception.

ROB LEES

FAMILY MONTH COMMITTEE

We have been pleased with the response to Family Month '83. We are still in the process of completing a detailed summary of activites that took place in communities throughout the province. The Summer Newsletter highlights some of these events.

Many thanks to all our members and friends who helped make May Family Month '83 a success.

STRUCTURE COMMITTEE (AD HOC)

At the Annual General Meeting held in Chilliwack last year, the concept of regionalization was discussed. Based on the interest and feedback generated from this discussion the President appointed a Structure Committee with the following terms of reference.

1) To examine the purposes of the B.C. Council for the family and evaluate the organizational structure in light of the current factors which inlcude:

    a) Policy statement, approved at Board Meeting, October 15/16, 1982.
    b) Growth experience of Council since 1977.
    c) The need for more effective employment of Board Members.
    d) Links with private agencies.
    e) Present economic situation.
    f) Reality of government's restraint program.
    g) Branches and community committees (with two exceptions) have not become a viable local structure.
    h) Expressed need for regionalization at A.G.M., 1982.

2) The Committee will present its recommendations to the next Board Meeting - Spring, 1983.

The work of the committee was carried out by correspondence. It comprised the following Board members: Margaret Mahoney (Vancouver), Susan Hunter (Prince George), Jayne Dator-Freeman (Alert Bay), David Friesen (Prince George), Peg Peters (Chairperson, Private Agencies); Connie Hawley (Executive Director); with Ed Taylor of Kelowna, Joanne Wright, President of Upper North Thompson Branch, Ron Harper, President of Capital Region Branch, and Norm Worsley, Chairman. I would like to thank all of the above for their thoughtful and carefully considered contributions.

The committee presented a positive report at the April 29th., Board Meeting. Quoting from the minutes of that meeting: "An excellent response from Committee members on Organization and Structure indicated strong interest in regionalization for recruitment, for sponsoring seminars and for keeping the identity of the Council alive at regional and local levels throughout British Columbia".

On the basis of the committee report and a group discussion of Board Members, a number of enabling motions were passed so that the concept of regionalization could be implemented and the necessary proposed changes to the Constitution and By-Laws could be prepared for presentation to the 1983 Annual Meeting.

NORM WORSLEY

NOMINATING COMMITTEE

This is a unique year for determining a slate of officers because of changes being proposed and put forward for the composition of the Board.

Without detailing these proposals, which the appropriate committee will report on, the major change will be the estblishing of regional representatives. This will mean that members will either be elected to represent a designated region or they will be elected at large.

The precise method of determining how regional representatives will be elected/selected has been sent out through the Executive Director's office. Connie Hawley has facilitated the work of this committee immensely, by getting letters typed and mailed and generally acting as a clearing agent. Without her work, this committee would be much less effective. A special word of thanks to Connie.

I believe we can once again look forward to a strong board. A number of appointed Board Members have written to accept an extension of their commitments. I am confident that strong replacements for other vacant Board positions will again be found, either through the appointment or election process.

DAVID FRIESEN.

AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Members
British Columbia Council for the Family

I have examined the balance sheet of the British Columbia Council for the Family as at March 31, 1983, and the statement of revenues, expenditures and unallocated surplus for the year then ended. My examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests and other procedures as I considered necessary in the circumstances, except as noted in the following paragraph.

Donations and registration fees, by their nature, are not susceptible to complete audit verification. Accordingly my verification of receipts of these types was limited to a comparison of recorded receipts with bank deposits.

In my opinion, except for the effect of any adjustments which might have been required had I been able to completely verify donations and registration fees, the accompanying financial statements present fairly the financial position of the Council as at March 31, 1983 and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
MARCH 31, 1983

---

1. Incorporation

The British Columbia Council for the Family was incorporated under the Society Act of the Province of British Columbia on March 23, 1977.

2. Provincial Government Funding

The Government of the Province of British Columbia has funded certain direct administrative costs including salaries, office and travelling expenses for the British Columbia Council for the Family. The amount of this funding for the years ended March 31, 1983 and March 31, 1982 was $66,960 and $64,275 respectively, pursuant to an agreement between the Council and the Ministry of Human Resources. This revenue and related expenses are not otherwise reflected in these financial statements.

3. Accounts Receivable

Prior to March 31, 1983 the British Columbia Council for the Family transferred the function of publication sales to the Queen's Printer, who agreed to pay $1,048 to the Council (and an additional $1,140 to the Ministry of Human Resources) for the Council's inventory of handbooks. The remaining receivables of $98 represents invoices outstanding at March 31, 1983 which were paid subsequent to that date.

4. Donation - Vancouver Foundation

In September 1982 the Vancouver Foundation made a grant of $5,000 to the British Columbia Council for the Family, specifically for the production of "Everybody's Children" television series on the Knowledge Network. These programs were duly produced in the period under review.

5. Administration Costs

	1983	1982
Accounting and audit	$ 951	$1,610
Honoraria	-	80
Printing and stationery	704	2,594
Volunteer expenses	377	294
Miscellaneous	58	29
	$2,090	$4,607

6. Comparative Figures

Comparative figures presented for the year ended March 31, 1982 have been restated to conform with the presentation adopted for the 1983 fiscal year.
